2016 District Chapter of the Year

Hello FL2G from New York. It took us to leave Lehigh High to get some very needed rain. We thank God the tornado that was predicted did not touch down. After the very hot August we had, even the regular riders were complaining it was too hot to ride. We hope the weather cools down soon. So far so good. No hurricanes yet this year and we pray mother nature stays out to sea. We certainly had enough of her last year.

The EWMA Rally in Knoxville Tennessee is just around the corner. Several of our members will be attending. We hope to hear it was a great rally and the rides were spectacular. Good luck EWMA on your first Rally. Since we are in NY, we will not make the rally. We will miss seeing old friends.

We will not be having a September gathering as many of our members will be travelling and won't be back until the end of September beginning of October. The next gathering will be Saturday, October 28th at the Golden Corral, Fort Myers. Breakfast at 8am and gathering at 9am. At this gathering lots of money will be given away from our rider event program. Let's see who wins one of these pots of money. It will be exciting.

Harry will be going on the Honor Flight for Veterans on September 30. This is a big honor for him, and we all wish him safe travel and a fantastic time in Washington DC. Four members of our Viet Nam Brotherhood are also going so he will have vets he knows to share the experience.

Several of our members will also be attending the upcoming rallies for Georgia and Alabama in September. Hope they have fun, and the weather will be perfect for riding in that gorgeous part of the world.

We will be sending out a notice at the end of September beginning of October regarding the Christmas Giving at Littleton School. Those of you who signed up, you will be hearing from Monica when she gets the names to give you plenty of time to shop. We have members who are also willing to shop if you can't. She should be getting the names of the children who are participating at the end of September. This will be one of our major events coming up.

As you all know, we have scheduled our Pizza and Birthday events to lunches to escape the 5 pm traffic in southwest Florida. It has become almost impossible to get anywhere within a reasonable time frame at that hour of the day. We hope to see more participation in the upcoming months. If anyone has a recommendation regarding places, they would like to go with us for pizza or birthday lunches, please contact us.

Have a great month. Keep Cool, ride safely, and remember to have fun, fun, fun.

Harry & Pat Jordan Sr.

ARCTIC CIRCLE and/or BUST

Dominick & Diane DeSiato

Florida District Safety/Ride Coordinators

I recently completed a motorcycle trip to the Arctic Circle in Alaska. I thought I would share my observations and experiences about the trip for those of you who might be considering such a ride. The “Alaska Highway” starts in Dawson Creek, British Columbia to Fairbanks Alaska and the “Dalton Highway” starts in Fairbanks Alaska and goes all the way to the Arctic Circle. (About 200 miles of unpaved road.)

It was on my bucket list: Ride to the Arctic Circle north of Fairbanks, Alaska, take the photo of the “Arctic Circle” sign, and return. It was a trip I was glad I took and a trip I will never do again. 6,100 miles in 14 days starting in Livingston, Montana. (We trailered the bikes from Florida to a friend’s house in Montana, unloaded the bikes, and the bike trip began.) The average day ride was 435 miles. The roads were in the worst condition I had ever ridden on.

I rode my Kawasaki Versys 1000 and not my Honda Gold Wing and was glad I had done so. I was accompanied by my good friend, Jeff Brunelle, who was riding his Yamaha 1200 Super Tenere and not his Gold Wing. There were many riders along the way on Gold Wings and touring Harley Davidsons. It was not that a larger bike like those can’t make the trip, it is just the risk of doing some real damage to those types of bikes is too great. There were some places we rode that bigger streets bike could not safely traverse. There were times we were struggling to keep the adventure bikes upright and that was the type of terrain the adventure bikes were made for. I think if I were to attempt the trip again it would be on a smaller Enduro Dirt Bike. At one of our stops on the way through Canada we met two guys who were trailering two Yamaha TW200s Enduro Bikes. We should have taken that as a clue as to what type of riding conditions we were about to experience.

There were several different types of roads we encountered: Smooth paved asphalt, asphalt rough gravel mix, soft asphalt over dirt, soft dirt that when wet was like riding on ice, hard packed dirt, rough gravel dirt mix, and loose large gravel which was very dusty. (It was like riding in a London fog. We could no longer see the road in front of us or anything else for that matter until the dust settled.)

We got to hate seeing “orange signs”. An orange sign meant trouble ahead. (We saw many such signs.) Sometimes the sign just meant a new patch job ahead. Sometimes the orange sign meant miles of dirt and gravel road. Sinkholes under the blacktop were common with fissures big enough they could swallow your front wheel. There were many “follow me” construction trucks to lead us through the active construction areas. They often drove much faster than we could safely ride on across the loose terrain. I concluded that Canadians and Alaskans must have much better eyesight than we do in the lower US. All of the road signs were about 1/3 of the size we are used to reading. In order to read them I often had to slow down to do so.

We saw much of the native wildlife. Most of which were chipmunks running across the road in front of us much like squirrels do. This happened about 19 ½ times. (If you get my meaning: poor chipmunk.) We saw mountain goats, deer, caribou, moose, a grizzly bear, two black bears, antelope, porcupines, a red fox, a white eagle (extremely rare), buffalo, very large crows, and some very friendly stray dogs looking for a hand out (I complied). There was one interesting black bear encounter.

I rounded a curve where there was a solid granite mountain to my left and a metal guard rail to my right. A large black bear was walking right down the middle of the road in a head on path towards me. I had to come to a complete stop. In anticipation a quick U-turn to get away from the bear but he decided to hop over the guard rail. (Another reason to learn how to do a U-turn which is not usually covered in a Basic Rider Course.) There was a bit of an adrenaline rush there.

The Canadian Rockies from Calgary to Jasper were beautiful with good roads. On our return trip from Alaska we choose to try Route 37 instead of the Alaska Highway. It started at the Yukon border with British Columbia and went south ending in Smithers, BC. It was a much more enjoyable, curvy, and mostly paved road with little construction.

There was no phone cell service many times. Not having phone service sometimes lasted for hours and sometimes as much as 100 miles. We brought a satellite phone which we had to use a couple of times. Not having cell service also meant not having phone GPS capabilities to find a gas station or food. We carried an extra 2 gallons of gas on each bike which we had to use once. Gas up and get food at every opportunity.

So, there you have it. Would I recommend taking the trip? Definitely “Yes”. Would I recommend doing it on a large fancy bike you care about? Definitely “NO!”.

Enjoy the ride and ride safe,

ATGATT- Not just a motto, but a way of life!

Ride Safe!

So let me get this straight. I go to the grocery store and buy a lb. of sliced ham wrapped in plastic, a loaf of bread in a plastic bag, a gallon of milk in a plastic jug, a pack of napkins wrapped in plastic, a Greek salad in a plastic container, a plastic bottle of mustard and a plastic bottle of ketchup, and they won't give me a plastic bag to carry it home because the plastic bag is bad for the environment?
